FIELD REPORT

It was with great enthusiasm we started our one-day field visit to Thenmala and Konni on 30th November 2017 as a part of our studies. We 36 students along with our teachers Prof. Dr. M V Krishnaraj and Prof. Dr. Geethalakshmi k accompanied us. We started our trip at 7am from the college itself.

Thenmala is the first ecotourism project in India. It is a town of tourist attraction in Kollam district in Kerala. The Thenmala Dam is a popular ecotourism destination in Kerala. The dam occupies the largest reservoir in the state which was built under the Kallada Irrigation and the Tree Crop Development Project. It is the second largest Irrigation Project in Kerala.

By 10am we reached Thenmala Boating in the lake, rope bridge, trekking, mountaineering and musical fountain are the major attractions of Thenmala. It is a biodiversity rich zone. we observed a wide variety of plant species like Archyranthes, Hamelia patens, Caryota urens, Borassus flabellifera, Euphorbia hirta, Phyllanthus amarus, Anisomeles indica, Vitex negundo etc. we visited an apiculture museum nearby. Due to heavy rain we couldn't enjoy the entire beauty of the places. So we shifted our trip to Konni.

We reached Konni by 4:30pm. Konni, a forested village in the Pathanamthitta ditrict of Kerala is situated on the bank of mighty Achenkovil River. We visited the Elephant Training and Reserve Centre. It had around 7 to 8 elephants. One of the major attractions were the giant wooden cages to house the elephants, locally known as Aanakoodu. We also made a visit to the nursery of Medicinal Plants.

By 7:30pm we were back in the college. It was a nice trip with a blend of fun and academic aid. Our teachers gave us enough explanations regarding each plant varieties we observed. We cannot forget those experience.
